

Business Continuity Planning and Crisis Management

Crisis Survivor assists organisations of every size, in all industries and professions, to ensure business critical functions such as IT, telecommunications, office space, customer communications and reputation remain operational in the event of an incident.

Have you considered the risks your business faces today?

- Do you have a plan of how to survive a flood, fire, theft or storm?
- Assuming that you have Business Interruption Insurance, could you survive financially if your claim was still not settled after six to twelve months?
- If your IT/Communications systems failed, do you have the means with which to carry on invoicing/collecting payments and banking etc?
- Will your suppliers still be able to fulfil your orders if they have a crisis, are they resilient to a disaster?

Business Continuity Planning

From initial identification, planning and management of a Business Continuity Strategy, through to implementation and remediation of all business critical functions, Crisis Survivor provides a service that puts processes in place to prevent, mitigate and minimise the effects of events that could otherwise spiral out of control. Increasing business efficiency, minimising downtime and resulting in preparedness for a seamless transition from crisis through to business as usual.

Our bespoke service places qualified consultants in the heart of an organisation to work closely with the senior management team. Working together to understand and achieve business goals, our consultants use their knowledge and experience to assess possible risks faced in every environment. Cost effective business continuity management programmes and solutions can then be implemented based on individual assessment of organisational need and not a one size fits all software template solution.

Crisis Management

Crisis Survivor offers a joined up solution that covers all bases with a fully invocable end-to-end approach that leaves you to run the business whilst we manage the crisis. Our holistic service means that in the event of an incident just one telephone call delivers uncontended, pre-subscribed remediation services from specialist providers at pre-agreed prices exactly when you need them most through our Immediate Crisis Management Service. As an independent consultancy we are committed to sourcing the right solutions for each organisation. Considering how to find temporary premises and diverted facilities when disaster has already struck can be too late. Especially if affected by an incident which damages neighbouring businesses and causes competition for these services.
